

14th December 2010

Re: Jereh Oilfield Services

To whom it may concern

Jereh has supplied pumping and cementing technology and personnel for Geothermal cementing contracts in remote tropical areas of Papua New Guinea and remote desert locations within Australia since 2007. All equipment supplied was of the highest quality and all Jereh personnel were well trained and of professional appearance.

All of the equipment supplied by Jereh came well prepared with a large amount of field backup stock and support services to ensure they were lacking nothing. To date, all the cement jobs they have performed have been excellent and their personnel diligent and helpful.

As a result of their first-rate service to date and their competitive pricing VIKING expects to be working alongside Jereh for many more years.

We would highly recommend Jereh Oilfield services for cementing and high pressure pumping projects.

Yours sincerely

David Nommensen
Director
VIKING Energy

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "David Nommensen", written over the printed name.